hereinafter referred to individually as “the Party” and collectively as “the Parties”
Preamble

Since its creation in 1961, Auchan has built its business around a core set of beliefs and deep-rooted values, including a strong commitment to social responsibility.

Auchan Retail International aims to be recognized as an ethically-based company with a responsibility towards its employees, customers, suppliers, shareholders, residents living near its stores, the environment and natural resources.

Building global sustainable development is one of the greatest societal challenges of the 21st century: creating wealth for the benefit of all, while reducing inequalities and protecting the environment and the health of populations.

The company is mindful of the need to listen to its stakeholders and to address the issues that are relevant to it: it will remain responsive to new challenges and the expectations of society with regard to CSR:

- Vis-à-vis our employees, Auchan is committed to facilitating their professional and personal development, practising a form of participatory and proximity management, guaranteeing high quality working conditions, offering fair wages, sharing the fruits of progress, and valuing diversity.

- Vis-à-vis our customers, our aim is to maintain a relationship built on trust, and to improve their purchasing power by promoting a form of affordable and sustainable consumption which we refer to as “responsible discounting”. In order to breathe life into this project which offers innovative solutions for the consumer patterns of tomorrow, the Auchan teams intend to develop a responsible supply and distribution system.

- At the same time, the company needs to develop and demonstrate its commitment to society at the local level by helping young people in difficult circumstances who live in the neighbourhoods where stores are located, particularly through the Group’s foundations, but also through accurate reporting and transparency in all its CSR policies.
The company's approach, of which this agreement is an integral part, aims to serve as a development model based on both operational performance and behavioural standards for the purpose of assuming responsibility for all stakeholders.

That responsibility involves the wide-ranging involvement of all players. Which is why the desire for a lively, rich and balanced social dialogue based on trust between management and employees' representatives forms part of Auchan’s values and identity.

With this agreement, Auchan Retail International and UNI Global Union, which represents employees in the sector at the international level, have created a space for information and dialogue. They also reaffirm the importance of good business, social and environmental practices in all parts of the world where the company operates.

Auchan recognizes the role played by the trade unions in defending and promoting employees' interests. UNI Global Union recognizes Auchan as a responsible international company that applies good practices in its relations with employees.

The company makes this commitment voluntarily and it complements its legal and regulatory obligations in the countries in which it operates. The universal standards that are set out below shall be respected by all entities of the company throughout the world.

The subsidiaries of Auchan Retail International shall seek to implement this agreement in the most favourable manner possible whilst taking account of the economic, social and cultural realities of each country, in a spirit of on-going progress based on the provisions set out in this agreement.

The two signatory parties reaffirm their desire to ensure that internationally recognized standards and principles which form part of this Agreement, whether or not they are compulsory under national laws or regulations, shall be applied in all the sites the company operates throughout the world.

Auchan Retail International and UNI Global Union also reaffirm their desire to develop relations that are both trusting and constructive in order to ensure the best possible application of this agreement.
I - SCOPE OF APPLICATION OF THE AGREEMENT -

The present agreement applies to Auchan Retail International, acting in the name and on behalf of all related entities, and to UNI Global Union.

The term “related entities” refers to all companies controlled by Auchan Retail International within the meaning of Article L 233-3 of the French Commercial Code, or for which Auchan Retail International has the right to designate the majority of the members of the decision-making body, or the right to exercise effective management control.

This agreement is to be seen as an overall framework which is intended to confirm the relationship of trust between Auchan Retail International and UNI Global Union. Its purpose is not to replace current national legislation, and/or national collective agreements, and/or company-level agreements, and/or unilateral practices or rules that may be in force, or that may be negotiated at a later date, when such provisions are more favourable.

It reflects the shared desire of the parties to give preference to the promotion of the social dialogue.

- Auchan Retail International and UNI Global are committed to a process of social dialogue at the global level which is based on trust and attentiveness. They are convinced that dialogue and cooperation are the best way to resolve problems or differences of opinion. Thus the Parties are committed to seeking solutions through dialogue rather than through any form of action.

- Auchan and UNI Global Union share the same commitment to a rich and balanced social dialogue. This dialogue, which is part of the Auchan's culture, is embodied in a commitment to participatory processes involving employees and regular negotiations with staff representatives.

- Auchan respects the rights of employees to form or to join a trade union of their choice. Auchan shall maintain a policy of strict neutrality with regard to the choice of its employees to join, continue, modify or renounce membership in the trade union of their choice. Auchan undertakes not to discriminate against employees as a result of their involvement in union activities. Auchan will not present obstacles to union recognition or representation. A trade union will be recognized as long as the trade union satisfies the minimum legal requirements for recognition under applicable local or national law. Conversely, neither UNI or its affiliates shall discriminate against, victimise, or retaliate against Auchan employees who exercise their freedom to not join a trade union.
II – RESPECT OF FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS

In line with its CSR policy, Auchan affirms its willingness to respect the UN guiding principles on business and human rights, as well as those of the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, and the UN Global Compact. Furthermore, in accordance with the principles set out in its code of ethical behaviour and its general environmental and social principles, in particular those that are specified in the Global Compact, Auchan reaffirms its resolve to respect the ILO declaration on fundamental rights at work, in particular those concerning:

- Non-use of forced or compulsory labour
  The company condemns and shall refrain from all forms of forced or compulsory labour.

  This policy is designed to promote diversity of people and cultures in the different entities of the company.

- Respect of freedom of association and the principle of collective bargaining
  The company recognizes freedom of association and the right of its employees to be represented by, and to join, a trade union, in accordance with the principles of freedom of association and the protection of trade union rights.

   - It shall give priority to the direct recruitment of employees who shall be given open-ended employment contracts or similar.
   - It undertakes to apply a fair wage policy which is comparable to good industry standards in the country concerned.
   - It shall associate employees in the development of the company by redistributing the benefits of growth as part of its one-of-a-kind policy of sharing (shareholders; sharing the benefits of progress; sharing the benefits of results).
   - The autonomy and responsibility of all employees is defined as being an essential key to its performance. To this end, Auchan shall support training, internal promotion, job versatility, and internal, geographic and professional mobility, in particular in order to develop the employability of its employees.

Moreover it endorses all the provisions of ILO Convention 111 which rejects any impairment of equal opportunities or treatment in employment made on the basis of race, sex, colour, religion, political or trade union opinion, national extraction or social origin.

4. Relations with suppliers and sub-contractors

- As early as 1997, Auchan adopted a code of business ethics. The code, which was updated in 2014, now includes two parts:
  - a code of business ethics which is included in business contracts and sets out the obligations of suppliers and sub-contractors: respect for the law, regulations and fundamental human rights.
  - the employee code of conduct which must be signed by, and given to all buyers

  This responsible procurement approach incorporates quality and social requirements for supplier approval after prior audit.

- In the event of a proven case of undeclared subcontracting, the suppliers in the global supply chain who work for Auchan shall have their approval immediately revoked

  Furthermore, any serious failure on their part to respect the law concerning:
  - the health and safety of employees
  - fundamental human rights

  shall lead to the termination of all business relations, subject to any contractual obligations.

5. Risk management and respect for the environment

- Risks associated with products and services

  Auchan has made risk management and control a priority. Its precautionary approach is founded on anticipation, compliance with best practices and a scientific and technology watch strategy for risk-related activities, in particular those affecting its own-brand products. Auchan applies this principle of precaution with a view to constantly improving the safety and health protection of its customers.

- The environment

  Auchan respects all applicable international and national legal and regulatory requirements, in particular principles 7, 8 and 9 of the Global Compact.
Auchan operates a dual risk prevention policy with regard to known risks and seeks to limit its environmental impact by:

- Developing a demanding energy policy
- Working on the sustainable management of raw materials, in particular with a view to achieving zero waste and promoting a circular economy
- Using resources derived from ecosystems in a responsible way
