

Organiser

The UNI Global Union has an ambitious programme to improve working conditions for workers through strong unions.

We are seeking highly motivated individuals to fill new positions of Organiser in Thailand to support the work of the UNI Asia & Pacific. Candidates with organising and campaigning experience in unions or related fields will be highly regarded.

Successful candidates will report to the Lead Organiser in Thailand.

About the UNI Global Union and the UNI Asia & Pacific

The UNI Global Union, based in Nyon, Switzerland, represents more than 20 million workers from over 150 different countries in the fastest growing sectors in the world – skills and services.

The UNI Asia & Pacific is a powerful regional voice for workers which support the economic and social lives of hundreds-of-millions of people. Together with our 200 trade union affiliates across the region, the UNI Asia & Pacific advances the interests of workers by supporting organising campaigns, promoting social dialogue and developing constructive labour-management relationships.

With staff and partners throughout the world, the UNI Global Union and its affiliates in all regions are driven by the responsibility to win better jobs and better lives for the cleaners, care workers, postal employees, IT specialists, professional athletes, printers, cashiers, security officers, bank tellers, call centre employees, screenwriters, and millions of other workers we represent.
